My week at Hollow Bay – a blog post by Lena

- A Hi everyone! My name is Lena Walsh, I'm twelve and I live in Millford, a small town in the south-west of England. Last month my class went on a five-day trip to an outdoor centre at Hollow Bay. We travelled there by coach, and the journey took nearly four hours because there was a lot of traffic. When we arrived, it was raining, but nobody really cared.
- B Every morning we got up at seven o'clock. Breakfast was at half past seven in a big wooden hall. After breakfast we had activities until lunch: kayaking, rock climbing and orienteering. Climbing was my favourite, although I was a bit scared at first. My best friend Priya was much braver than me – she reached the top of the wall first.
- C The worst part of the trip was Wednesday. We went on a long walk along the cliffs, and suddenly it got very windy and cold. Our teacher, Mr Dawson, decided to turn back. We were wet and tired when we got back to the centre, but the cook had made hot soup for everybody.
- D On the last evening there was a talent show. Some students sang songs, and two boys did magic tricks. Our group performed a funny sketch about the teachers. Mr Dawson laughed louder than anyone! I have never had such a great week with my class. Next year we're going to visit a farm, and I can't wait.

orienteering: running or walking with a map and a compass; cliff: high, steep rock next to the sea
